Henley Audio Announces Distribution Arrangement with E.A.T. European Audio Team brings a new high-end offering to the Henley Audio portfolio.

Didcot, Oxfordshire – 01 August 2024

Henley Audio is delighted to announce a new distribution agreement with European Audio Team (E.A.T.), the specialist high-end manufacturer from Slovakia owned by Jozefina Lichtenegger. With a comprehensive range of turntables, complementary accessories, and electronics, the latest E.A.T. range is produced in Europe to the very highest standards.

Jozefina Lichtenegger says of the new distribution arrangement:

“All European Audio Team high-performance products have been designed to bring us to the meaning and spirit of the original musical recording. We aim to become a part of the performance. So, I’m thrilled that through Henley Audio, we should be able to deliver that experience to more music lovers in the UK and Ireland than ever before.”

Managing Director of Henley Audio, Laurence Armstrong, said of the new relationship:

“We’re delighted to add European Audio Team to our portfolio. Jozefina has an excellent eye for design, and each product in the range boasts a sense of pride in ownership that many other brands struggle to achieve.

At Henley, we have new plans to expand our high-end offering, with dedicated staff and resources being made available to ensure our premium retail network can benefit from not only the best products in the world but also the best support. E.A.T. is at the forefront of that strategy, and I look forward to more dealers, customers and music lovers becoming more aware of this special brand.”
